Memorial Rites Sunday For Viet Nam Casualty

Memorial services for 1st Lt. Ronald Zinn, who was killed while on patrol in Viet Nam July 7, will be held this Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Orland Park Methodist church.

The funeral services were conducted Thursday at the chapel of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point from which he was graduated in 1962. Interment was in the cemetery there.

The memorial service will be military in character. A chaplain from the Fifth Army at Ft. Sheridan will have charge, assisted by the Rev. Leon Leatherman, pastor of the Orland Park church.

His picture, draped with a flag, will be displayed at the front of the sanctuary. At the conclusion of the service the flag will be presented to his mother, Mrs. Lloyd W. Zinn, and outside near the church entrance an escort will fire three volleys and a bugler sound Taps.

At the West Point service the Rev. Charles Bachman, a navy chaplain and relative of the Zinns who officiated at Ronald's wedding last Jan. 22, will officiate at the funeral. The wife, Mrs. Barbara Zinn, requested that the lieutenant be buried at West Point. Her home is at Cambridge, Mass.

Lt. Zinn is the first casualty from the area to be reported from Viet Nam. He was serving with the 173rd Air Borne Div., and had been serving with the American forces attached to the South Vietnamese for the past two months. After his marriage last Jan. 22, Lt. Zinn and his bride were sent to Okinawa. It was from there that he was sent to Viet Nam.

He had been on numerous patrols and had remarked in letters to his parents on various occasions of how the Viet Cong would seemingly melt away before patrols not to return until the patrols had withdrawn.

On July 7 they apparently did not leave and the five members of the patrol, Lt. Zinn, an American sergeant, and three South Vietnamese were ambushed and all killed.

Lt. Zinn was graduated from Carl Sandburg high school in 1957. While a student there he played baseball and engaged in distance running. Tendon trouble caused him to change from running to heel-and-toe walking (which is as fast as many persons can run) and in the years that followed his graduation he won dozens of cups, trophies and medals as a walker.

Lutherans At Mokena Lay Cornerstone For Church

Braving the hot sun that reflected from the unfinished brick walls and surrounding piles of building material, some 200 persons witnessed the laying of the cornerstone of the new Immanuel Lutheran church at Mokena Sunday afternoon. They hope to hold services there in November.

Members of the congregation, and friends of other denominations that turned out for the event, occupied rows of plank seats at the north end of the new edifice while the Rev. Dr. A. J. Bueltmann, the pastor, conducted a simple but impressive ceremony.

The service began with a hymn, followed by the invocation by the pastor, a responsive reading by the congregation, and then another hymn. Dr. Bueltmann gave a short sermon.

Then the pastor read off the contents of the box that had been sealed in the cornerstone of the present church 50 years ago. The stone had been replaced last week so the box could be removed and its contents transferred to the new receptacle that is sealed in the cornerstone of the new church on LaPorte road.

There were six persons present at the ceremony Sunday who attended the cornerstone laying of Oct. 10, 1915; Mrs. Henry (Ida) Yunker; two of her daughters, Erma, now Mrs. Robert Geuther, of Mokena, and Mrs. Ella Krohn, New Lenox; Robert Geuther, chairman of the building committee and his sister, Mrs. Esther Barnes, of New Lenox, and Mrs. Jerome Dougherty, Mokena.

The items from the 1915 cornerstone transferred to the new include a German bible, a German catechism, a German hymnbook, a German Third Reader, an English catechism, an English Third Reader, the Jan. 19, 1915 issue of Der Lutheraner and the 1915 proceedings of the Northern Illinois District.

The new items in the cornerstone include, the 1965 list of communicants and church officers; three brochures, "What You Should Know About Your Church," "Immanuel Invites you," and "God's Challenge to Us"; picture of the building committee at the groundbreaking ceremony; April 30, 1965 issue of The Lutheran Witness; No. 1, Vol. 1 of the Lutheran Witness Reporter published May 9, 1965; a copy of the Mokena News - Bulletin; a history of Immanuel congregation; a copy of the Revised Standard Version of the Holy Bible; Catechism (Copyright 1943) and a picture of the 1965 confirmation class.

ARBURY HILLS HOME LOOTED OF RARE STAMPS AND COINS

Will county police are seeking a stamp and coin thief that looted the home of Charles Warren, 9400 Magnolia drive, Arbury Hills.

A collection of rare coins and stamps valued at more than $1,500 was stolen sometime last Saturday while Warren was at work. Mrs. Warren was away on vacation.

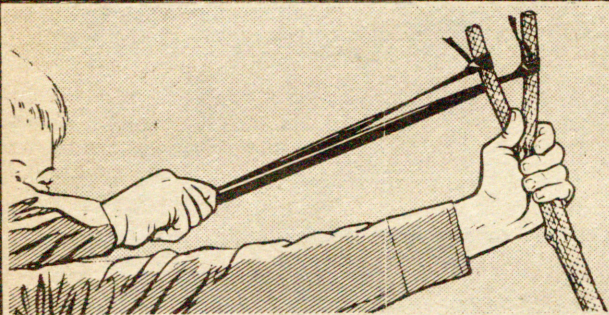

Warren discovered the theft when he arrived home about 9 o'clock Saturday night. A neighbor told investigators that a light brown car had been parked in front of the Warren residence that day for about 20 minutes.

A key to the house was missing from its hiding place, according to the report.

Warren told the officers that he has been collecting stamps and coins for more than 25 years.

Missing are two boxes of coins valued at $500 each; two boxes each containing 100 frames of stamps and each box valued at $100; 10 one dollar bills dated 1928, in frames; a $10 bill dated 1928 also in a frame, and a stamp collector's book valued at $250.

$71-MILLION REDEVELOPMENT is planned by the Christian Science church at Boston. This picture is a model of the master plan prepared by an eastern architectural firm, covering a "church center" costing $8-million, plus privately-developed apartment and commercial space estimated at $63-million. Model shows existing church edifices and publishing house surrounded by a seven acre park and proposed new buildings as follows: (1) 22-story church administration building, (2) auditorium and other facilities, (3) nine-story private apartments with groundfloor shops, (4) 34-story apartments.

Christian Scientists Planning $73,000,000 Redevelopment Project

New plans to construct a 15-acre "church center" for the expanding world headquarters of the Christian Science movement, have been announced to area members. The announcement came in the form of a letter to the area church officers from the board of directors of the mother church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, at Boston. The letter said that the church's new headquarters center could "no longer be postponed" in order to meet the needs of its expanding activities.

A master plan -- prepared by a leading firm of architects and city planners, I. M. Pei and Associates of New York -- also covers an additional 16 acres of personally church-owned land around the "center."

On this surrounding land the plan calls for leases of private re-development to construct 3,500 new middle-income apartment units plus retail shops, office space, improved pedestrian ways and underground parking facilities. Cost of this privately-developed phase is figured at $63,000,000 or more. The total project -- combining both church and private sectors -- covers 31 acres and would be constructed in stages over a period of six to 10 years.

First in line for construction is the $8,000,000 "church center" expansion -- including a new 22-story administration building, with seven acres of open landscaped area and a 600-car underground garage.

Expansion room is also planned for the existing Christian Science Publishing House -- which now issues periodicals in 13 languages besides books, records, and a daily newspaper, The Christian Science Monitor.

Focal point of the entire center will continue to be the original edifice (built in 1894) and its domed extension (completed in 1906) -- generally recognized to be among the world's great church buildings. They were built under the leadership of the movement's Founder, Mary Baker Eddy, and remain in use for church services, public lectures, the annual meeting of members, college student conferences, and many other church activities.

Location of the project is a large triangular plot in Boston's Back Bay region -- bounded on one side by the Prudential Center and on the other two sides by Huntington and Massachusetts Avenues which meet to form an apex at one of the city's busiest intersections. It is part of an area that is gradually shaping as one of the world's leading cultural centers.

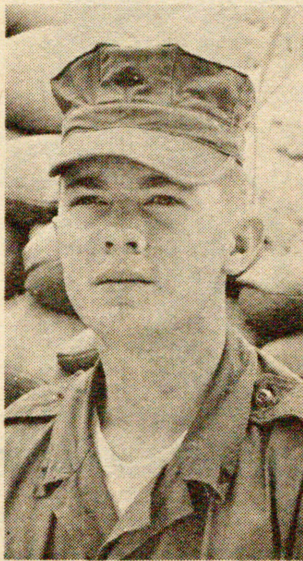

Within one square mile of land this area contains Boston's Museum of Fine Arts, Symphony Hall, Horticulture Hall, Public Library, Civic Auditorium, Northeast Conservatory of Music, Jordan Hall, Northeastern university and Boston university theater. Addition of the Prudential center has also brought to the area a 52-story office tower, 29-story hotel, a high-rise tower connected by expansive malls and retail plazas.

DR. WARREN AHNELL, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ahnell, 7800 W. 143rd st., Orland Park, received the doctor of veterinary medicine degree in June from Washington State university, Pullman, Wash.

Dr. Ahnell graduated from Orland Park grade and high school and then received a BS degree from Iowa state university, after which he served two years as a laboratory technician in an army hospital in Arizona. Later, he entered the University of Washington and received his MS degree in research.

Dr. Ahnell is presently employed as a veterinarian with Stierma veterinary hospital at Bakersfield, Cal. where he resides with his wife and two sons.

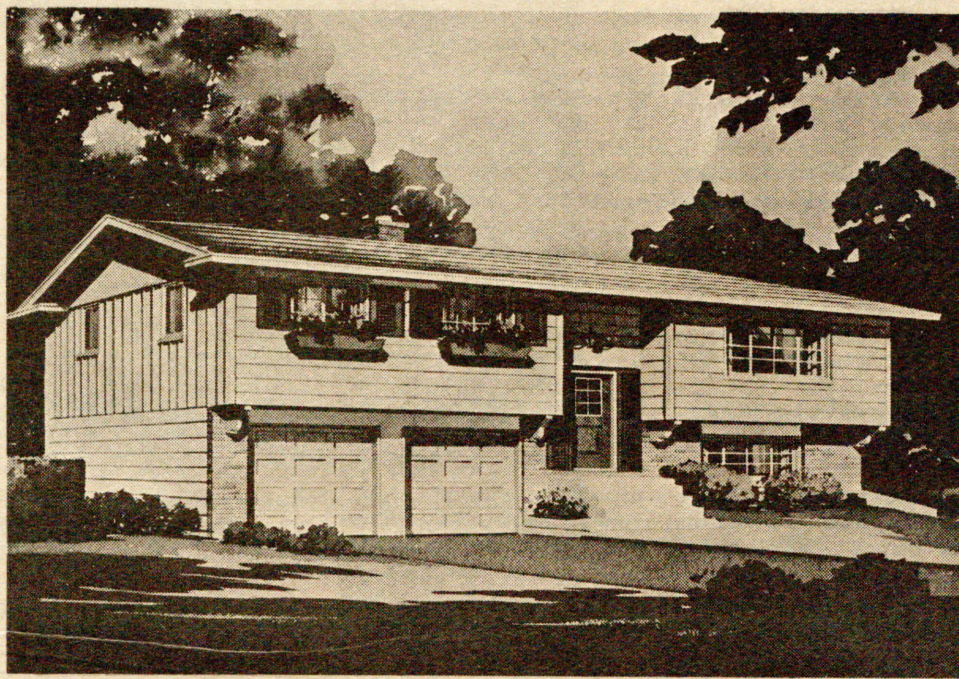

MARINE LANCE CORPORAL Dennis G. Ferek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ferek of 14509 S. Willow, Orland Park, is serving at Da Nang, Viet Nam with a supporting unit of the 1st Marine Aircraft wing.

He is assigned duty as the secret and confidential files clerk and is responsible for the filing and security of the unit's secret and confidential material.

Dennis is a graduate of Carl Sandburg high school.

Village Board Asks Support For Water Improvement Plan

In an effort to provide Mokena residents with a more reliable and improved water system and to avoid the bleak prospect of an extended water shortage, Mokena village board members have unanimously endorsed plans calling for the construction of a second well, pump and pump house.

Also recommended by the board and its consulting engineers are the installation of a water purifier and master meter, to control against possible pollution and to locate costly water losses; the repair of the community's single elevated water storage tank before more extensive damage occurs; and the installing of a second main under the Rock Island tracks together with approximately 8,100 feet of new 6 and 8-inch water mains at numerous locations thru the community to better serve residents and to increase water pressures.

To permit village voters to express their opinion of the recommended water system improvements, a special election has been called for Saturday, July 31 upon the question of issuing $105,000 of bonds to pay the costs of construction.

At present, village officials are fearful of a major breakdown in the community's single well and pump. When such a breakdown last occurred, in 1953, the Village was without water for three days and engineers estimate that the repairs made at that time have already out-lived their expected usefulness. As recently demonstrated in Joliet, when a breakdown temporarily crippled part of the water system, serious health and sanitation problems are posed when no alternative source of water exists.

Faced with a growing population and increased per capita water usage, Mokena seems plagued by low water pressures. Much of this is due to the existence of numerous two-inch mains in many portions of the community. It is believed that the construction of the 6 and 8-inch mains will largely correct this problem, it was stated. Also, a number of new customers will be added which will be to the general financial betterment of water and sewer system, a spokesman declared.

As required by state law, a water purifier (chlorinator) will also be installed if the proposed water system improvements are approved by village voters.

Polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday. Mokena residents who expect to be away on the day of election may go to Village Clerk Alvin S. Sorensen for absentee ballots.

ON 2nd THOT

HAVE YOU EVER noticed how many people there are in photographs appearing in the public prints whose principal function is --to look on?

There may be one, two, possibly three persons supposedly performing some specific act but the others in the picture are doing nothing, according to the captions, except looking on.

It never seemed quite fair to us to have someone working like a nailer and here is someone else getting equal billing just by looking on. (To digress a moment we are frank to say that from first hand knowledge we do not know how hard a nailer works. Actually we are not certain just what a nailer is, whether he is an apprentice carpenter going thru a phase of training that is limited to driving nails or whether the name was applied to some specific trade in the long ago and has survived as a simlie. To us it has a busy sound.)

THE TROUBLE IS, of course, is that too many people get in too many pictures. Before the wide angle lens a press photog could put his foot down on jamming a picture. Some were quite arbitrary and would refuse to allow more than four persons in the group to be photographed. He preferred to argue with the people who wanted the photograph taken than to listen to the piteous cries of the photo editor asking aid from above to give him patience to wait for the day when maybe someone posing as a photographer would bring him a picture of group that was in focus.

We are not referring here to the spot news picture, crowd shots, sports and the like.

We are talking about "occasion" pictures.. you know, giving out awards, receiving awards; cornerstone laying; the speaker's table at banquets, specifying in general; committees planning dances, style shows, flower shows, suppers, dinners, luncheons, good causes, et cetera, et cetera; opening new plants; dedicating bridges, highways, etc., including ribbon cuttings, and so on and so on.

Photographers, as a rule, try to keep the number of subjects to a minimum, but they are subject to pressures and appeals and usually wind up by agreeing to let one more in the group, or two and finally have them bunched up like an elevator starter at rush hour in a big office building.

When such a picture reaches the caption writer there is little he can do with the surplus people. If he wrote "...the other guys here are a bunch of yahoos that crowded into the picture..." the repercussions probably would penetrate even the sanctum of the publisher. So he writes them off as "looking on."

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE for the photog, who is directing the picture, to find some business for all of them to do. He has it tough enough to get the principals in a pose to fit the occasion.

"Don't look at the camera," he orders, say at a ribbon cutting. "You have a pair of scissors in your hand..yeah, those things are scissors.. and you are going to cut that ribbon. Open the scissors and hold them so the ribbon is between the blades, but for the love of Mike don't cut the thing because I'll want a couple more shots and there probably isn't another ribbon within five miles. Now look down, and you, on the left there, and you on the right. You are to hold the ribbon while his nibs there cuts it. Don't look at me. Look at the ribbon. Make sure your fingers are out of the way just in case he should take a cut at it."

And how does the picture

come out? The three principals are looking directly at the camera saying cheese, as are the others that have bunched in. If they "are looking on," as the caption says it is at some other ribbon cutting up the road behind the photog. Why more fingers aren't lost at ribbon cuttings is something we can't figure out.

SAY IT IS an award shot. Someone is getting a watch, a scroll, a plaque, a cup or maybe a citation. The person making the presentation is standing there with whatever it is extended so the recipient has his hands on it or in his hands and there are several others grouped around.

The photog harranges them:

"Don't look at me. Look at that thing you are getting. You are pleased to get it so you are smiling. The guy giving it--look at the one you're giving it to...you aren't giving it to me..... and the rest of you, look at the man getting it. You are glad for him so you are smiling too."

How does it come out? All of them dead pan and looking straight ahead. Maybe the caption is at fault --maybe he should say ... "So-and-so, so - and- so, so- and - so, so- and so, etc. are looking on while a presentation is being made someplace back of the camera."

And if the photog wants them to look directly at him its 10 to 1 they will be still "looking on" apparently at some distant scene off to one side or the other.

Maybe there should be a law.

BUSINESS & FINANCE

by Maurice P. Angland

Investment letters are becoming more optimistic than was the case a few weeks ago. However, a number of them are cautious even to noting that the earnings reports will start appearing with good news. This is expected to add to enthusiasms and confidence.

On the other side, however, is concern as to the Viet Nam situation and the stability of the British pound. Stock exchange markets in Tokyo and western Europe, have been weak. French actions in regard to the Common Market, have not been designed to inspire confidence. However, a number of observers express opinion that French influence in world affairs is not enhanced by their present attitudes and that their impact on world affairs will be less than anticipated.

Auto sales figures still are impressive, but the investment comment is less enthusiastic than was expected by some commentators.

A good number of analysts express belief that the domestic economy is continuing strong with no major signal of down movement.

A few investment services note that the market is such that conservative investors would be well advised to use market rises to lighten their ownership of cyclical stocks and keep interest largely limited to the better grade situations.

Dow Theory Forecasts investment service states in their digest of leading investment services; 20 per cent say BUY; 30 per cent say SELL; and 50 per cent say HOLD.

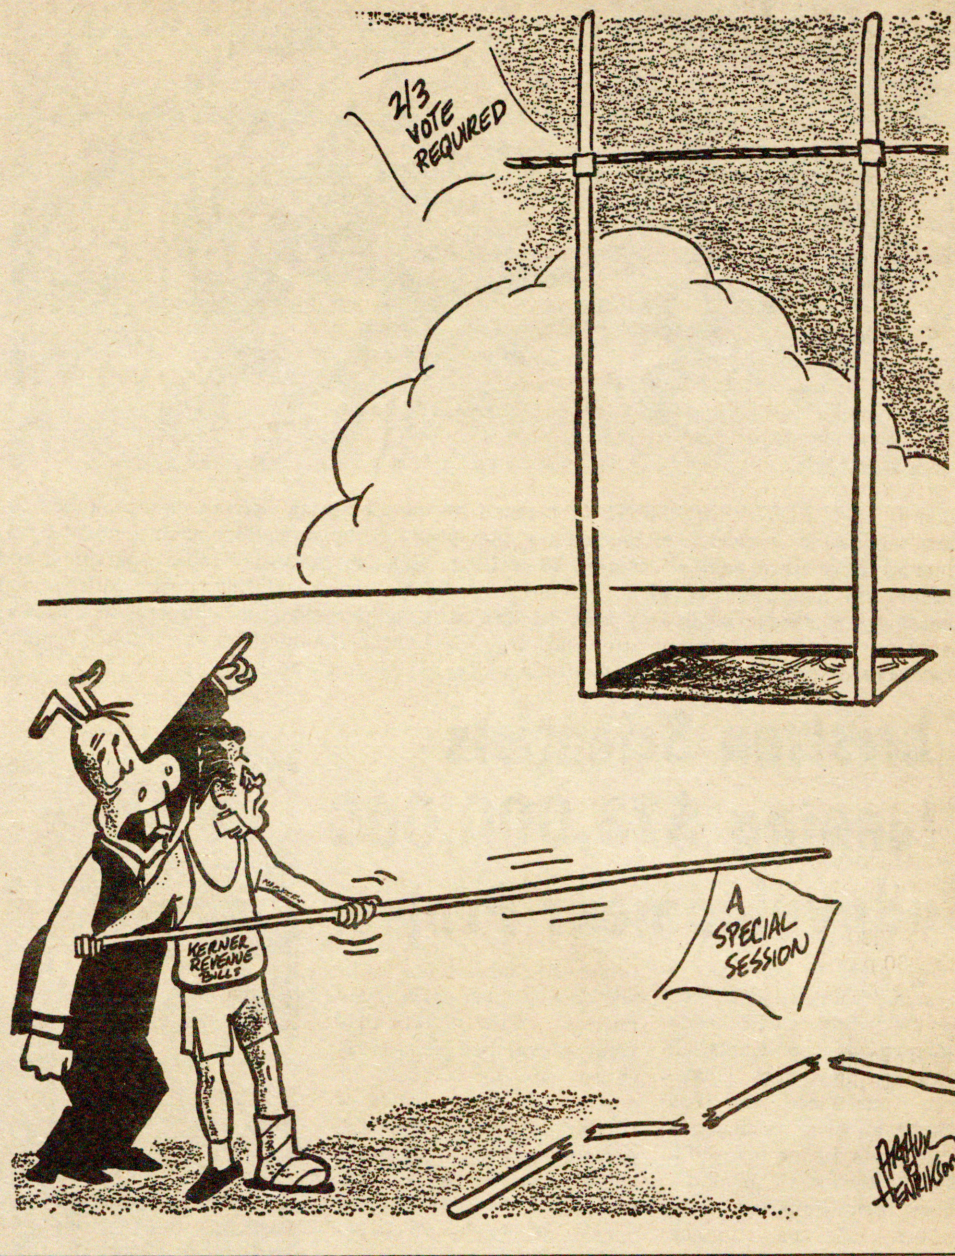

A short survey of a number of men in the investment field, advise that the interest in Mutual Funds has been increasing.

This may well be due to more favorable publicity for the funds with comment on their research abilities. The mutuals also have wider field of appeal now that they are permitted to point sales appeal to their record in aiding persons who are retiring and must keep investment funds active. The funds had tried to get the SEC to approve their entry into this field, but other interests objected. The SEC gave their permission for the funds to compete for this business in retirement funds. As of now, the results in increased sales have been good or so the reports indicate.

Students have been closely observing the monetary situation in this country as well as the western world. Monetary advice services, have been warning that deterioration in the quality has been building up and that some adjustment can be expected.

In view of the problems that could arise, caution is suggested for the time at least.

THINK YOU COULD MAKE THAT?

Too Much Misinformation

More and more business leaders have been expressing deep concern over what they feel is a lack of understanding of the workings and values implicit in our free enterprise system of doing things. This worry is based, in substantial part, on surveys that indicate a woeful misconception of what that system has achieved, particularly among young people.

An eloquent appeal for better understanding was made by Robert C. Kirkwood, chairman of the board of the F.W. Woolworth Company. Addressing a group of business and professional men, he set his stage in these words: "Those who have enjoyed the tremendous benefits of the free enterprise system... would be particularly remiss if, at this critical point in the nation's history, they failed to speak out in support of the concept that has made possible the highest standard of living achieved by any nation at any time in history."

Mr. Kirkwood fully realizes that the system is not perfect. But it has done an outstanding job of correcting deficiencies and righting wrongs. It is, in his words, "... the most remarkable method ever devised for producing and distributing wealth, goods and services ...". As examples, he cites the fact that more than 70 million people are employed, despite the growth of automation; that our nation produces more than one third of all the manufactured goods in the world; and that our investment in capital plant, including such institutions as schools and hospitals as well as factories, is about three times as great now as when we entered World War II.

Despite all this, misinformation concerning our system abounds. Here Mr. Kirkwood also cites examples. Only one person in three thinks that investment in factories and machinery makes a major contribution to economic growth. More than half of the adult population believes that net profits of most business firms are equal to or exceed total wages paid, while fewer than one tenth know that payrolls substantially exceed profits. And a survey of high school seniors showed that too many of them thought American business was monopoly-ridden and that profits were exorbitant.

These errors of belief matter deeply, in Mr. Kirkwood's view, "... because if the United States is to maintain its economic leadership, the private enterprise system must be permitted to function freely. And, since the attitude and action of present and future government administrations and Congress are actuated by public opinion and political pressure, it is essential to muster active and constructive support for the free enterprise system." Also, he says: "And not the least important point in the case for economic literacy is the fact that, in the final analysis, the economic decisions made by the federal government are of the greatest moment in the personal life of the individual citizen."

What can be done? Mr. Kirkwood suggests that business and professional people work more closely with the school systems. He points to the need for maintaining a climate of opportunity, that being basic to the system. And he praises the various existing programs which provide training and knowledge to young people.

At the end Mr. Kirkwood restates his theme in these words: "... if we are to insure that our free enterprise system is going to continue without restrictive regulations that would smother it, we must be willing to speak out, so that the people of the United States will understand and appreciate the system's contributions and its important role in today's society."

SERMONS AND SOFAS -- not a common combination but not so unusual either if one asks why a minister shouldn't take up upholstery. The Rev. Carl Wert, of Knox, Ind., who came to Orland Park to visit the Rev. Marvin Chandler, took a year's schooling in upholstery and enjoys it very much. The Rev. Mr. Wert was pastor of the Baptist church at Xenia, Ill. He also served as a missionary in the Ozarks. It was there he learned the upholstery trade. Here he is working on a chair.

Switzerland Wonderful, Says Marsha Peterson

This summer is one that Marsha Peterson, of Manhattan, would like to have pass slowly. A senior at Lincoln-Way high school next fall, Marsha is spending the summer at Fribourg, Switzerland, under the Lions exchange student program.

Her "sister" there, Genevieve Leibzig, will continue to be her "sister" here. Miss Leibzig will attend Lincoln-Way this year as an exchange student and will live with the Peterson family.

The following is a letter from Marsha to Lincoln-Way:

"A third of my trip is gone now and it has been wonderful.

"After fairly well getting use to the major differences I have begun to look for the smaller important items. One thing I find that I like very much is the way in which the Swiss look at their own country. They do not take it for granted. Many times my family does more exclaiming over a beautiful sight than I do. They find beauty in the town-things they see very day - but still enjoy as if it were the first time! Often we will pass a new modern building going up and they shake their heads and say "C'est dommage". (It is a pity)

"July 3rd was the Lions picnic. I presented our Lions Club flag to the President and in return he gave me their flag for the Lions of Lincoln-Way. At the picnic I met several young people

Knowledge Key To Safety In Boating

To keep recreational waterways safe, boatowners must combine courtesy and common sense with a sound knowledge of boating and navigational principles, according to the American Insurance Association.

The Association advises small craft owners -- especially those with limited experience -- to enroll in courses of instruction offered by the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, power squadrons and other boating organizations.

Good boatmen - like good automobile drivers - are made, not born, the Association maintains. Whether a motor boat becomes a pleasure boat or a menace to life and property depends on how it is cared for and operated.

and I learned their form of cha-cha. Another dance is new and very popular here. If I didn't know the name I'd have called it "The Bunny Hop" for that's exactly what it was.

At dinner on the 4th of July I mentioned that it was our National Independence Day. So, to celebrate we had beautiful flowers on the table and at dessert they gave me the center decoration of the cake! Later we went for a drive around a neighboring lake and went to a Hungarian Art Exposition. To end the day's activities we stopped at a very nice hotel and had dinner. All in all it was a very nice 4th of July--but a little quieter than at home--I wonder why? Ha!

"My father in Switzerland has surprised me with the prospect of two or three days in Paris before I leave. I am very excited and really looking forward to it, except that it will signal the end of a wonderful experience abroad."

FRANKFORT NETS $250 IN TRAFFIC FINES

Robert D. Aldrighetti was found guilty of reckless driving within the village limits of Frankfort and fined $50 plus court costs.

men of the A team, the nine to twelve year olds, in the baseball league, is indicative of their innermost feelings. After their recent triumph they have now been bombed on three occasions. They lost a single game to Lincoln Estates by the score of 10 to 3. This was followed by a double header last week against Mokena to make up an earlier tie game. The unhappy totals for these two games after the smoke and sighs had cleared was 6 to 2 in the first game and 10 to 2 in the second game.

The B team of nine to twelve year olds had mixed emotions over the merits of baseball as America's favorite summer pastime. They were gloriously triumphant phant against Mokena by the score of 13 to 6, but to east their swelled heads this was followed by a sound pasting by the boys from Lincoln Estates by the football score of 25 to 11. Not exactly a pitcher's battle, I'd say!

The No. 1 farm team of eight year olds with Bud Cumbee as manager met the Mokena farm team on their field and barely went down to defeat by the score of 6 to 5. It was a tight-fought contest on both sides, and all deserved a pat on the back.

The Babe Ruth team of the older boys had to have their game called off this past week, when too many vacations left the team with an insufficient number of players home.

The Baseball League wishes to extend their gratitude to everyone who helped out at the Mokena Park booth during the July 4 holidays. It would be risky to attempt to name names, since their might be someone left out, so let us thank all collectively. The booth was a decided success only because of the efforts of over 50 helpful volunteers.

The Baseball League also wishes to publicly thank Mrs. Eugene Pasky for her long hard hours spent in taking care of the refreshment stand at our own baseball field. Mrs. Pasky has found it necessary to resign her post as chairman of the refreshment stand.

A successor has not been named.

Mary Jo Wallis, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Charles Wallis on Willow Lane has found the ideal method of getting out of doing dishes according to her mother. This foolproof way is one broken left arm from a fall on her bicycle last week. Surely, Mary Jo there must be a less drastic way; break all the dishes instead.

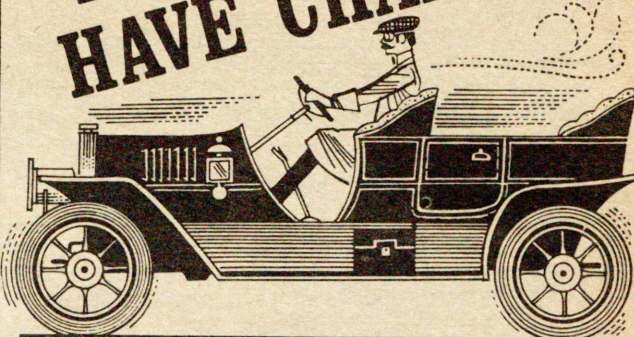

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burdett on Hickory St. took their three older children to the Springfield, Ill. area for the week end to view our state capitol and surrounding area. Baby Terry spent the week end with his grandparents in Brookfield.

Time is getting short for the tickets for the Chicago White Sox benefit game Monday evening, July 26. The tickets are available from Francis Cronos, president of the Boys Baseball League. ALL adult tickets for this game only are $1.50 and for children for this game only are $.75.

The proceeds from this game each year are used to assist as many of the little league and independent boys baseball league teams with baseball equipment. This fund is the source of the donation of a large supply of baseballs and baseball bats for our own boys earlier this spring.

If you are interested in obtaining tickets, or need further information about the game, please contact Mr. Cronos at 479-5038.

Tossing Eggs Costly, Area Youths Discover

Two Frankfort youths, Thomas Saxton, 18, of 189th and Wolf rd., Mokena, and Terry McAndrew, 18, of 416 Locust st., Frankfort, were arrested Monday by Deputy Sheriff James Sryzler, on charges of disorderly conduct and illegal possession of fireworks.

According to the arresting officer the pair threw eggs at him and at a passing car. The incident occurred on U.S. 45 about three miles north of U.S. 30 around 1:30 a.m.

Sryzler gave chase but the boys abandoned the car near 187th st. The deputy found fireworks in the auto and also a carton of eggs.

License plates on the car checked out to Blaine Saxton, of Mokena and inquiry at the home revealed that Saxton's son, Thomas had been driving the car, but was not home at the time. The two youths were arrested shortly after 5 a.m. at their homes. Saxton allegedly admitted to county police that he had been driving the car and McAndrew is alleged to have admitted throwing eggs at the officer and another car.

The two youths were locked up in the county jail pending hearing in court. They were brought before Magistrate Robert Burchard Monday forenoon and each was fined $50. Each also paid $25.30 costs as well as the fines.

Schilling In Fine Form As Red And Whites Win

Spectators at the village park on June 29 witnessed an excellent game played by the Frankfort Red and White Babe Ruth team. Frankfort defeated Manhattan by a score of 4 to 0.

Artie Schilling racked up his third victory of the year in shutting out Manhattan and allowing only two hits. The second man up for Manhattan in the first inning hit a line drive into the center field. Rick Kohlbacher, Frankfort's center fielder attempted a shoe string catch but was unable to get to the ball in time. In the second inning, a Manhattan batter hit a sharp line drive back to pitcher, Schilling. Schilling got his glove on

Avoid Bears---Their Next Meal May Be You

When you hand that cute black bear one of your picnic sandwiches this summer, you are not only risking your own life and limb but you may also be doing irreparable damage to the bear's morals.

Even worse than the mar on the bear's psyche, you may be contributing to its eventual execution.

Chicago Motor Club tour counselors, who each year route thousands on pleasure trips to our national parks, agree with the liberally sprinkled signs along park highways:

"Please don't feed the bears."

"Park rangers say that the bear who has come to look upon the tourist automobile as a rolling snack bar soon turns into a tramp. It won't exercise by hunting down its own food. Its coat -- through lack of exercise and proper diet -- turns shabby.

And, as any hungry tramp might be inclined to do, it is likely to turn mean if a handout is not forthcoming. When that happens, it goes after the food, often quite forcefully. This has resulted in serious injury to well-meaning tourists, and countless dollars in damage to automobiles.

Some bears which become too mean have had to be destroyed. Others have had to be destroyed because tourist handouts have dulled their hunting instincts -- to prevent them from starving to death during the cold winter months while the traveler is back home sipping hot toddies by his comfortable fireplace.

The Chicago Motor Club says that peaceful coexistence, without offering aid and comfort to the enemy -- in this case, the bear -- is the best policy. View them from a safe distance. If you the ball, but was unable to field it. These were the only hits Schilling gave up.

Craig Otto, Frankfort's 14-year old shortstop, lead the teams' attack by scoring two runs on a hit and a walk and stealing four bases. Dale Brown scored Frankfort's other two runs; also with a walk and a single. Other hits in the game were made by Larry Batson, Eugene Vaughn, Keith Fordonski and Kevin Davis.

This victory gives Frankfort a 5 win - 1 loss record as they continue to set the pace in the Lincoln-Way Babe Ruth Baseball league. The team's home game was Tuesday, July 13 against New Lenox No. 2 group.

must take photographs, never get out of your automobile to do the shooting. Snap the pictures through a closed car window. This is especially important if cubs are present. Mama bear is a protective animal and inclined to become resentful if tourists approach her cubs too closely.

When you park your car, close it and lock it. Bears have been known to do an incredible amount of damage to the interior of a car in their search for tidbits. The bear is a strong wild animal, and all it needs is a clawhold to get inside.

This may disturb the traveler inclined to worry about the bacteria count on his food, but it's best to keep your food securely locked in the car's trunk when you're motoring in bear country.

Park rangers offer this bit of advice: Never try to pet a bear, or make friends with it. All it is interested in is what you might have in the other hand.

A few years ago, park officials were dismayed to learn that their signs reading "Please don't feed the bears" were being chewed upon -- by the bears.

Mokena Blues Overpower Manhattan Outfit 14-4

The Mokena Blues overpowered Manhattan July 9, winning 14 - 4 in a game shortened to four innings by the 10-run rule. Dave Wallace pitched his usual good game, allowing four hits and striking out nine in the four innings.

Tim Shanahan had a single, double and triple, Marty Novak and Wallace doubled, Bill Ryan had a single and home-run, Bill Kennard a single and double, and Greg Walsaitis a single for the Blues' 10 hits. Losing pitcher Jim Mundt had two of Manhattan's hits, including a triple, and Martin and Dailey supplied the other two.

Frankfort defeated the Mokena Reds 9-3 as Art Schilling pitched a 5-hitter. Losing pitcher Nate Rose-ner doubled for the Reds, while Gordon Bruce and Pat Flynn each collected two hits.

First - place Frankfort plays the Blues at Mokena on Friday, July 16, while the Reds take on the State Bank team at New Lenox.

'Mister Roberts' At D'Amico's Playhouse

by Ruth Carl

July 6 marked the opening night for, "Mister Roberts" starring Tab Hunter at D'Amico's Piccolo Playhouse in Joliet.

Tab Hunter, stage, screen, recording, and TV star, is playing to capacity audiences at Piccolo Playhouse after coming from the Little Theatre in downstate Sullivan, Ill., where he did sell-out business.

Hunter has had two, million-sellers in the recording field, had his own TV network program, along with many guest appearances on other TV shows, one of which earned him an Emmy nomination for his role in "Portrait of a Murder".

"Mister Roberts," the first production of the season in Joliet, is a rowdy, realistic saga of World War II life aboard a Navy vessel in the non-combat area, portraying the continual battle between the Captain and Mister Roberts, always working to help the crew in their battle with the despotic Captain.

My opinion of "Mister Roberts" was very impressive.
It was the first time I had ever seen a play presented in the theatre-in-the-round.
In this type of stage,
there is no scenery used,
just props. The characters must remain in character at all times as the audience is seated around the stage.

I have always enjoyed seeing Tab Hunter in anything he has starred in. When I found out that he was going to play Mister Roberts, I knew that the play would be a success - and a success
it was.

I particularly liked the ending. Unlike modern plays, there is no moral-idea about the view from the cargo ship in a scene from the play "Mr. Roberts". Vince DeDario already knows about the hospital window in the Piccolo Playhouse production, playing now in Joliet through July 18.

izing, or no message, but chilling emotion as you find out Mister Roberts has been killed in combat.

It wouldn't be fair for me to tell you any more about the play, but if you want an evening filled with laughter and surprise, you won't want to miss D'Amico's, "Mister Roberts."

Curtain time Tuesday
through Thursday is 8:30, Friday at 9, Saturday at 6 and 9:30, and Sunday at 2:30 and 7:30. Tickets are still available through July 18 for $2.25 and $3.20 and Friday and Saturday, $2.75 and $3.50.

THANKS PUBLIC

Dear Sir:

I wish to publically thank all the individuals and organizations that worked so hard to put on the wonderful 4th of July activities. I have hard no end of comments that this was the best they have attended in Mokena -- it was the only village in the area to have such a large doings and fireworks.

Thanks to the Lion's club and the Mokena Chamber of Commerce, the two co - operative organizations that sponsored the festivities.

Thanks to the ladies and men of the other organizations, the local police, the Will county auxiliary sheriff's police, the fire department, the local Red Cross, and of course thanks to all the organizations that operated the booths. All these made the 4th of July, 1965, in Mokena, an unforgettable time, one that will be hard to surpass.

The fireworks, all supplied by the merchants of our little village were excellent and expertly set off.

The parade this year was the parade of parades. The efforts of the parade marshal and all those participating was wonderful. It was good to see all the handmade floats. These showed ingenuity and considerable amount of work.

Thanks to the fire department of the community for participating in the parade and showing us their skill in water ball contests.

Oh yes, thanks to God for answering all the prayers for good weather. It couldn't have been better.

Those people that left Mokena over the holidays missed a wonderful time;
take note next year.

Let's all give praise and a big hand to all that organized and participated in making this the best 4th of July Mokena has witnessed.

My personal public thanks
to them all.

President, Village
Board of Mokena

Improve Triple-R Track, Barns, Lodge For Quarterhorse Race Meet

Construction contracts in the amount of $75,000 have been awarded for construction of a new race track and an 80-stall horse barn in preparation for a 30-day quarterhorse race meet to be held at the Triple R Ranch, Frankfort, Ill., from September 10 to October 10. Thomas C. McKay, ranch owner, and Lou Cella, race director said the contracts were awarded to Chandler Construction Co., Richton Park, and Brown and Lambrecht Earthmovers, Inc., New Lenox twp.

McKay said Chandler is also constructing a 35x45 foot addition to the Triple R. Ranch Lodge. The ranch is located one mile south of Frankfort just off Steger road. Electrical work is being done by A. Oppenheimer Inc., Park Forest.

The race track is being widened to accommodate a 10-horse starting gate. The quarter - mile straightaway will also have a photo-finish and judge's tower constructed by Chandler. Rails and fencing are a part of the contract.

McKay said the new barn will have 40 stalls on either side. Some 200 horses are expected to be housed on the grounds when the quarterhorse races are held this fall.

The charity races are being conducted for the benefit of St. Joseph's college, East Chicago, Ind., and to acquaint Chicagoland with quarterhorse races which are popular in the Southwest and which are being introduced in more and more eastern states. Pari-mutuel betting will not be offered at the race meet.

Quarterhorse racing has become more and more popular at the Illinois and Indiana state fairs. The Illinois State Legislature amended its racing laws in 1963 to permit the racing of Registered quarterhorses. No application for pari-mutuel betting has yet been filed in Illinois, however. Indiana does not permit pari-mutuel racing.

The quarterhorse races will be held each Friday, Saturday and Sunday afternoon during the 30-day period starting Sept. 10.

The Quarterhorse Association reports there are approximately 50,000 registered quarterhorses in the State of Illinois among 1,200 breeders.

"Make It With Wool" Contest Open In Fall

Illinois women and girls who like to sew are eligible to compete for numerous merchandise prizes in the 1965 version of the "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest, sponsored in the state by the Illinois Farm Bureau Women's committee.

The "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest is aimed at promoting the use of wool in clothing construction. Rules and entry forms are available at the county Farm Bureau office.

The Illinois competition is divided into three age classifications: The junior division for girls from 14 to 16; the senior division for girls from 17 to 21; and the adult division for women over 21.

Contestants are to make a garment from domestic wool and model the garment at one of nine district contest style shows. A girl attending college (or working away from home) may enter the contest in her college district.

Merchandise awards will be given to district winners in each age group.

District winners will be eligible to compete in the state style show and contest.

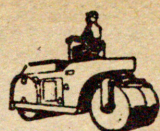

A national Grand Prize winner will receive a 14-day trip to Rome, Paris, London and Ireland.

The state contest is the final phase of competition for the adult category in Illinois. The state winner in the adult class will receive a $50 gift certificate.

The deadline for entering this year's contest is October 23. State contest director is Mrs. Fred C. Francis, Wilmington.

District "Make It Yourself With Wool" contests will be held Oct. 30. The 4-H Field at New Lenox is headquarters for Dist. 3 which includes Will, Grundy, DuPage, Cook, Kendall, Ford, Livingston, Iroquois and Kankakee counties.
